RE: SANNA BALDEH

The above named is a Senior Nurse Attendant redeployed to the Department of Surgery and has been working under my supervision for almost one year.

During this period, Sanna exhibited a high sense of responsibility, commitment and dedication to duties. He is punctual, has high respect for authority, colleagues, patients and their family members.

His punctuality, interpersonal relations, communication skills and insatiable desire for personal development are worthy of emulation and I would not hesitate in recommending him to pursue any programme of self development and I am confident that if given a chance, he will live to expectation as he is very intelligent and willing to learn and serve to the best of his ability within his limitation.

I am hopeful that if given the chance, he has the ability to excel in all his endeavors.

Best wishes for all his academic and professional Aims and Aspirations.
