I have known Mr. AronaJobe for more than three years now. During the course of this period, he demonstrates an excellent attitude towards work. He is diligent, disciplined, hardworking and above all, very enthusiastic in patient care. He develops special liking for Nursing and he proves that beyond all the reasonable doubts. Due to his passion and tireless effort, he has gathered a huge experience in Nursing. He gives exceptional care to his patients at all time.

Furthermore, Mr. AronaJobe has great regard for authority. He hardly absent himself from work and always come to work on time. Whenever he is at work, he works diligently even in the absence of close monitoring. He has flawless character that enables him to work amicably with his work colleagues. Throughout the period I have stayed with him, there was no single day that a report came to me concerning him. This however shows that he has good interpersonal relationship with the staff.
